Progressive Conservative stalwarts from throughout the county gathered at the Fireside Restaurant Wednesday evening to hear Ontario Tourism Minister Claude Bennett. Speaking in support of Murray Fearrey the local PC candidate, seen at the right, Bennett outlined the details of the party's Enterprise Ontario economic incentive program.

Private industry should create jobs Bennett tells PC's

In spite of a late winter storm that made driving conditions treacherous, over 80 Progressive Conservatives from Minden attended a dinner at the Fireside Restaurant on Wednesday in support of their candidate in the upcoming provincial election.

The dinner marked the end of a busy day for Murray Fearrey as, accompanied by the Minister of Tourism, Claude Bennett, Fearrey opened a committee room in Fenelon Falls and attended a reception in Dorset.

Following an introduction by Art Ward, Fearrey told the gathering of the party faithful that based on his years in municipal and county office he has a first hand knowledge of the problems in the area. "We know that our tourism sector has to be strengthened. We know there are problems in the forest management sector and we know that the Ministry of Transportation and Communications has to pay a little more attention than it has" he said, adding that more jobs have to be created in the region and that many young people need to be retrained.

Fearrey promised to present policies dealing with the issues during the coming weeks of the campaign. He then introduced Claude Bennett.

Bennett began his speech with an obvious reference to the Liberal incumbent John Eakins. "Members of the opposition would have you believe they are delivering programs and grants, such as Wintario, on behalf of the government. There is only one group of people responsible for delivering programs and that is the members of the Progressive Conservative Party," he said.

Bennett said the Conservative government has "tried to improve the social and economic climate throughout the province... not just in the 72 ridings represented by the PC's."

Noting that the Premier Frank Miller represents the neighbouring riding, Bennett said, "Nothing will impact greater than to have the Progressive Conservatives sit for the riding of Victoria-Haliburton with a common understanding with the premier of such issues as tourism."

Bennett predicted that "By the turn of the century the tourism industry will be the greatest employer of people in the province if we continue to expand and develop."

Liberals present study's findings

The Report on Rural Municipalities prepared by an Ontario Liberal Party task force has just been released to the public.

The 29 page report was made public in Lindsay on Wednesday by the leader of the provincial Liberal Party David Peterson and Victoria - Haliburton MPP John Eakins, who served as the chairman of the 6 member task force.

During the 18 month study the task force held ten public meetings in rural Ontario regions and accepted 247 briefs and submissions from municipalities, organizations and individuals.

The report contains an analysis of many of the problems facing rural Ontario and makes recommendations in such areas as roads, tourism, agriculture, small business, youth employment, social services, health care, Ontario Hydro and municipal funding.

Several recommendations of the report have been endorsed by the Liberal party during the election campaign but the report as a whole awaits approval of the party caucus.

Among the main criticisms raised in the report is that provincial and municipal roads have been deteriorating due to underfunding by the provincial government. Using figures prepared by the Ministry of Transportation and Communications and County Engineers, the report points out that 28% of all municipal roads and streets in the province are inadequate. 43% of all roads in Haliburton County are considered sub-standard, according to the Liberal report.

Noting that there has been an 18.2% decrease in road system funding by the province since 1975 the report recommends that a five year road improvement program costing 40 million dollars per year be implemented.

Tourism tax break

In order to make the tourist industry more competitive with other regions, the report recommends that the 5% retail sales tax on transient accommodation be removed at a cost to the province of 25 million dollars in the first year.

The province has endorsed the proposal and has also announced, if elected, the Liberals will introduce a sales tax exemption on food sales up to $4.

The task force recommends a common tax rate of 7% on food and liquor, a study of selective fee discounts in provincial parks for visitors from outside Ontario, implementation of a fish restocking program throughout the province, and a freeze on cutbacks in Ministry of Natural Resources staff in rural areas.

In the section dealing with municipal funding, the report criticizes the province for changing the method of calculating unconditional grant allocations from a per capita system, to one based on households.

The task force points out "provincial transfer payments account for roughly a third of municipal spending, and nearly a third of these dollars come in the form of unconditional grants." "While cities have thousands of singles or couples in homes and apartments, smaller rural communities tend to have more extended families in fewer houses. While urban areas will pull ahead under the household formula, rural areas will fall behind."

Housing program protest

A large group of ratepayers from the Minden area has launched a campaign against the Rural and Native Housing Program.

Describing the program as "offensive", "invalid, unnecessary and burdensome", the Haliburton Concerned Citizens Group has called upon the agencies that sponsor the program to review and overhaul the RNHP not only in Haliburton County but throughout the province.

The Municipality of Anson, Hindon and Minden has also been asked to investigate the program and advise the citizens group of any future actions that may be undertaken to "rectify the many obvious problems" outlined by the group.

The request for a review of the program was contained in a letter to the Minister of Labour, William McKnight, the minister responsible for the implementation of the program. Attached to the letter was a petition bearing the signatures of 107 Minden-area ratepayers who support the views expressed in the letter.

Copies of the letter have been sent to several other federal and provincial ministries and agencies and to the clerk-treasurer of the Municipality.

The letter and attached petition was tabled at the Thursday, April 11, meeting of Council by the acting deputy reeve Gary Kenney. Kenney stated that the letter does make some good, valid points, but added, "they are tarring the program with one brush." The criticism, he said has "gone from a particular application in one program to a criticism of the entire program."

He argued that most government programs show a degree of discrimination

since money is made available to specific groups or areas, to the exclusion of other sectors. Noting that Council has worked hard to have the program implemented in the Minden area he urged his fellow council members to make their opinions known on the benefits of the program.

"If we don't, our lack of response will affect whether we will be included in future programs," he said, adding, "I don't want the CMHC to shy away from this area."

Acting Reeve Ed Pergolas agreed, stating, "There has to be a voice from Council," and suggested that members review the letter and discuss the issues raised at the next meeting of Council. Councillor Pat Burk supported the suggestion, adding, "It would be a great mistake if the program was discontinued."

In the letter to the Minister of Labour, the citizens group criticizes "the basic philosophy of the program" that "every citizen of this country should expect to own a new and fully modern house, in spite of the very significant social and moral costs incurred by the society. This is a very flawed philosophy since it implies that all citizens who qualify under the program (which would be most families in our area) should automatically expect to have their mortgage subsidized in the same fashion, and have their initial down payment and all past mortgage payments refunded by the CMHC, not to mention that most wives working out of necessity could then stay home with their families."

The letter goes on to say that meetings between representatives of the CMHC and local residents held last year demonstrated "the overwhelming shock and disapproval with such an offensive program" and that "there is not and never will be any significant public support for the program."

Another issue raised in the letter is the undermining of the "basic Canadian work ethic". The letter asks "How does a hard working, taxpaying citizen respond to the implementation of this program in his community, when it is seen that suddenly hard work and sacrifice to own a home is arbitrarily and callously ignored by the State in a fashion that virtually demands vigorous protest?"

The citizens group suggests as an alternative to the home ownership program a centrally located rental unit administered by the municipality. Noting the District Manager had indicated at a public meeting, held last year with residents of the Highland Gate Estates, that if a community did not want the program implemented it would not be, the citizens group states their intention of holding the CMHC to this commitment through the entire County.

In concluding the letter the group requests a meeting with upper management of the CMHC "to make you aware of the true grassroots sentiment on this issue, and suggest realistic alternatives".

Anson, Hindon and Minden council has also been asked to investigate the program.

A discussion of the RNHP will be on the agenda at the regular meeting of Council on Thursday, April 25.

ATC race season approved

Anson, Hindon and Minden Council has granted the Haliburton County Snowmobile Association permission to hold three ATC races on the existing motocross track during the summer of 1985.

In January council advised the president of the association, Leroy Lichty, that because of complaints by residents of the area a more suitable location for the track would have to be found.

Several residents of the neighbourhood had complained to council about the "unnecessary noise" and "accompanying dust" of the three races that were held on the track in the summer of 1984. Council suggested that the municipal parkland between Beaver Creek and the ball diamond would be a more suitable location.

Since that area is in a valley and is surrounded by trees that would act as a noise buffer, Council felt that location would be more acceptable to the residents of the area. It was suggested that representatives of the H.C.S.A. and the Community Services Co-ordinator Brian Sisson should examine the proposed site.

At the meeting of Council on April 11, Sisson reported that the deep snow had made it impossible to properly inspect the terrain of the proposed site to determine the extent of work that would be required to construct a track and that a new track cannot be built in time for the first race of the season.

Council was also told that a petition had been circulated by the H.C.S.A. in the neighbourhood near the existing track and that only two residents had objected to the races being held this summer.

It was noted that the

H.C.S.A. must immediately confirm the location and dates of the races in order to have the races sanctioned by the Ontario Racing Federation.

Council decided to grant approval to the race events this summer with the understanding that future races will be held in a more suitable location and that this location should be determined by a demonstration that simulates race conditions and that the simulation be monitored for noise and dust in the adjacent residential area.

3 years later arson charges

Charges of arson have been laid against four individuals after the investigation of a $65,000 fire near Wilberforce in 1982 was reopened recently.

According to the police, in May 1982, a coin laundry located near Wilberforce was destroyed by fire. Investigators were unable to determine a cause for the blaze. Some $65,000 in insurance money was collected following the blaze.

The commercial enterprise was owned by Daniel and Arlene Mathews, aged 46 and 45.

An investigation of the Wilberforce blaze was reopened after a Peterborough man was arrested on several charges related to arson.

Scheduled to appear in Provincial Court May 15 to face charges of arson and conspiracy to commit arson are Richard Quenneville, 36 and Reginald Lumbard, 43, both of Peterborough and Daniel and Arlene Mathews of Wilberforce.

Accidents

The snowy conditions Saturday resulted in three single vehicle accidents. While there were no serious injuries, the mishaps, plus another not related to the weather, caused some $10,500 in damages.

The drivers involved in the accidents included: Jeffrey Weiller, 23, of Eagle Lake; Joan Wilbee, 35, of Minden Township; Edwin Pilcher, 23, of London, Ontario; and James Scriver, 29, of Bracebridge.

Driver charged

A charge of impaired driving has been laid against a Dysart Township man following an incident on the North Kashagawigamog Lake Road Tuesday April 7.

According to the police, the car being driven by Vernon Newbatt, 26, failed to negotiate a curve and struck a Hydro pole. The car and pole were destroyed.

Constable Jim Solway was the investigating officer.

A report for everyone

Caught, as the province is, in the midst of an election, it would be easy to dismiss the Liberal Task Force report on Rural Municipalities as just so much fodder for the campaign. However, a closer look at the 29 page report reveals the document to be much more than a partisan diatribe.

The report was released Wednesday in Lindsay when Liberal leader David Peterson visited with incumbent MPP John Eakins. Mr. Eakins chaired the task force and, we believe, is one of the main reasons the report is an even-handed assessment of problems in rural Ontario and presents reasonable solutions.

It should be noted that not all recommendations of the task force have been accepted by the provincial Liberal Party as policy, but that in no way should diminish the value of the points made. If nothing else, the recommendations represent a solid basis for improving conditions outside Ontario's urban centres.

Worth noting is the fact that some concerns, notably those relating to the deterioration of roads in rural Ontario, and tourism have been voiced by leading members of the Progressive Conservative Party as they addressed delegates at the Tory leadership convention earlier this year.

While each section contains specific recommendations, the point made at the beginning of the task force report, that "the government is not listening" seems to be reinforced with each turn of the page.

The report is a Liberal document but it is definitely required reading for Ontario residents of all political stripes. In particular, residents of rural Ontario should be aware of what the report has to say about how life outside the province's cities can be improved.

Sunset over the narrows.

New benefits announced

-by Bill Scott, MP-

On April 13, the Standing Committee on Health, Welfare and Social Affairs tabled its report on the Child and Elderly Benefits Consultation Paper in the House of Commons. The seven section report, resulting from an open and extensive exchange of ideas, revealed requisite common principles and characteristics of a child benefit system.

The committee agrees upon six principles which should be fundamental to Canada's child benefit system, four of which received unanimous support - universality, progressivity, adequacy, indexation, sharing of costs, absence of surtax. The only variances are the minority definition of the Indexation principle and whether its absence of a surtax on Family Allowances is a "basic principle" or a "desirable characteristic".

Although there were problems with option A in the Consultation Paper, such as a reduced crossing point and the diversion of funds to the provinces, the Committee expressed a preference for the type of result it obtained. With this preference in mind, the Committee established a framework of desirable characteristics for a new system based on a two-child, single-earner family in Ontario:

1. The maximum net benefit to the lowest income earners should be in the range of $1,900 to $2,200. (All party agreement.)

2. Earners in the highest marginal tax bracket should receive net benefits in the range of $350 to $450. (All party agreement.)

3. Families within the average range of income should receive benefits comparable to what they now receive. The majority established a crossover point (the level at which families receive fewer net benefits than under the current system) of $27,000 - $32,000; the N.D.P. established a crossover point of $45,000.

4. The majority stated that any federal savings should be retained within the National Health and Welfare Department budget. The Liberal and NDP position is that any savings be put back into the child benefit system.

5. The committee urges the federal government to minimize any change in provincial revenues resulting from the reduction of the child tax exemption or to develop alternative policy devices with substantially the same result. (All party agreement.)

The 10 Committee recommendations are as follows:

A. Recommendations with respect to the fairness of the child benefit system:

1. The government should undertake a re-examination of the system and proceed with the best reform possible consistent with the principles and characteristics set out in sections III and IV of this Report by the end of the summer.

2. The government should retain any federal savings within the Health and Welfare budget and use all possible forums to negotiate an agreement with the provinces that will keep money in the system.

3. The government should at the same time urge the provinces to ensure that the objectives of reform are not defeated by provincial decisions regarding their own social assistance programs.

4. There should be an annual review of benefit levels and any turning point

Legion tiny soldiers, cloaked in green and white, march across the terrain. Parading out of snowbanks, they come. Popping up from leaf-covered foxholes, they appear. Leaning, almost in unison, they seem to follow the sun; east by morn, west past noon. Some plump, others skinny. Like artillery fire, initial bursts of purple and yellow rivet attention. Soon, the diorama will blaze with colour.

The tiny soldiers are, of course, the rising buds of crocus, trillium, leek and coltsfoot. In short order, they'll be followed by bloodroot, wild ginger, hepatica and a host of other perennials.

Specially adapted to forest life, they grab a head start. For, theirs is a uniquely warm world in early spring.

Like all habitats, forests are constantly fed from deep within the earth - scientists call it the geothermal flux. But unlike most habitats, the mulched humus soils of forests are fantastically adept at holding and even producing more heat, through incalculable numbers of microscopic organisms. Blanketted all winter by both a thick layer of dead leaves and snow's insulating mantle, the forest floor freezes shallowly, if at all. Even as the heat flux continues to nibble at meadows' deep frost, it is already nurturing forest wildflowers.

But the sun's rays are at work, too. Sheltered from heat-stripping winds by the maze of trunks and shrubs, the forest floor converts light to heat, warming quickly. Even as the tree-tops still freeze and thaw nightly, the floor is already a balmy world unto its own.

Head start established, the wildflowers race to grow, bloom and rebuild their tuberous food reserves before sunlight and nutrients are shared by the expanding forest canopy. Indeed, by the time the canopy fully opens, many of our woodland flowers will already be on their way to dormancy. Their flowers, and even vegetation, shrivelled, they will patiently endure the 8 - 10 month wait before the whole race begins afresh.

We're fortunate in Ontario, in having such a wide array of woodland wildflowers. Together, they'll repaint our forests with successive waves of bloom over the next 4 - 6 weeks, sometimes, with colourful bursts, sometimes with spectacular blankets of colour.

To everyone who will take the time to take a walk; bend over and rediscover beauty long taken for granted, there's a world awaiting discovery. Each plant offers not only beauty, but fascinating adaptations and life histories.

Peterson boosts Eakins campaign

Accompanied by his entourage and a busload of reporters and cameramen, David Peterson, leader of the Liberal opposition made a brief stop in Lindsay on Wednesday between functions in Kingston and Toronto.

A crowd of over 200 Liberal supporters were on hand at the Loyal Order of Moose Lodge to meet their leader. Peterson chose the occasion to unveil the Liberal Task Force study on Rural Municipalities that was led by Victoria-Haliburton MPP John Eakins.

In his speech to the gathering, Peterson launched into a direct attack on Premier Frank Miller, criticising Miller's refusal to engage in a debate between the three leaders "Unlike Frank Miller, I am not afraid to discuss the issues; I am not afraid to debate" he said.

Peterson called Miller's decision "an insult to the electorate and the electoral process. His handlers want us to associate Miller with the good times of the past" Peterson said, "But he won't talk to us about the issues of today."

In releasing the task force report, Peterson said that the report underlined the Liberal party's commitment to preserving the way of life of rural Ontario, adding that Eakins' background in tourism and municipal politics made him an "absolute authority" on the problems facing rural Ontario.

"We could have no finer chairman than John Eakins" Peterson said. Following his speech he gave a brief press conference for the benefit of the television reporters then was introduced to media representatives from the local riding.

When he was asked how much of the Rural Task Force report would be adopted by the Liberal Party, Peterson answered that some of the recommendations have already been accepted. He added that he could not promise what other recommendations would be accepted until the document was reviewed further but added that the report gives a sense of the needs of rural Ontario and the issues being raised.

Asked for a comment on the possible closure of five schools in northern Victoria

County, Peterson stated that he was not well enough informed to make a specific comment but added, "Generally speaking it is not the kind of policy we support." He also questioned the necessity of driving 50 miles to attend school.

Also on the subject of education, Peterson said that although his party supports the funding of senior grades in Separate Schools, he could not agree with the method the government used to introduce the funding.

Peterson also criticised the government's handling of the recent college teachers strike arguing that the issue of quality of education was not properly addressed and that consequently the problems will continue. "Obviously the Tories will not provide leadership when it is needed" he commented.

He was asked why the issue of acid rain was not contained in the task force report. Peterson replied that his party has no intention of ignoring the issue and is aware of the damage to the environment caused by acid rain but felt that the problems deserved special consideration. "The fact that there is no mention of acid rain is not to say that it is not important," he said.

5. Family Allowance and child tax credit benefits in the new system should be paid to the lower income earner in a family unless otherwise requested by the lower income earner.

6. The federal government in consultation with the provincial governments should take steps to outlaw rebate discounting.

B. Recommendations with respect to further reform of child, individual and family benefits:

7. That Health and Welfare Canada co-ordinate a study of the costs of caring for children by ages and from region to region, and for those living in smaller centres or rural areas as well as large urban centres as a basis for further decision-making.

8. That the government resume publication of the tax expenditure account for all personal and business-related tax expenditures.

9. That, as a priority, the government should conduct a review of all personal tax expenditures and related direct expenditures in order to determine the efficiency of the system as a whole. The review should involve public consultation. The terms of the review should incorporate an early but realistic reporting date.

10. That the subject of elderly benefits be referred again to the Committee for further study.

made by the Township of Lutterworth and the Municipality of Anson, Hindon and Minden in 1981 to the Canadian Coast Guard since all navigable waters in Canada come under the jurisdiction of the federal government and the Coast Guard.

The application was also reviewed and approved by Transport Canada, The Trent Severn Waterways and the provincial Ministry of Natural Resources before finally being passed by the federal Parliament. The section of the Gull River between Moore Lake in Lutterworth Township and the dam at Norland, in Laxton Township has also been designated a 16 k.p.h. waterway.

Requests to establish a speed limit in the narrows between Soyers Lake and Lake Kashagawigamog, on Mirror Lake and in the channel between Canning Lake and Lake Kashagawigamog were also made in 1981 by the municipality but have not yet received federal approval.

Speed limit signs will be erected adjacent to the river within the next month by the municipality and the townships. Once the signs are in place, the speed limit will be enforced by the Ontario Provincial Police.

NDP choose Field

The New Democratic Party has chosen its candidate for the May 2 election in Victoria-Haliburton.

Art Field, who has run as the NDP standard bearer in the past, has filed his nomination papers with the constituency returning officer. This will be Mr. Field's third attempt at the seat. In the past he has fought the election under NDP leaders Stephen Lewis and Mike Cassidy. This time Bob Rae heads the party's attack.

Field is 50 years of age years of age and has been active in the political arena for 25 years. He is president of the NDP riding association. He is employed at General Motors in Oshawa.

HHSS band a winner

The Haliburton Highlands Secondary School Stage Band has been invited to participate in the Canadian Stage Band competition next month in Quebec City. The invitation came following the group's top showing during the weekend at a competition in Bracebridge.

According to the band's director, Rick Vaughan, the HHSS group participated in the "open competition" on the weekend. He explained that strict regulations apply to bands participating in competitions, especially as to the number of musicians in total and within certain sections. Since the HHSS band did not meet the necessary requirements, their appearance Saturday was in the open competition.

The adjudicators selected the band as the top entry in the open section and they were offered the opportunity to attend the nationals in Quebec City.

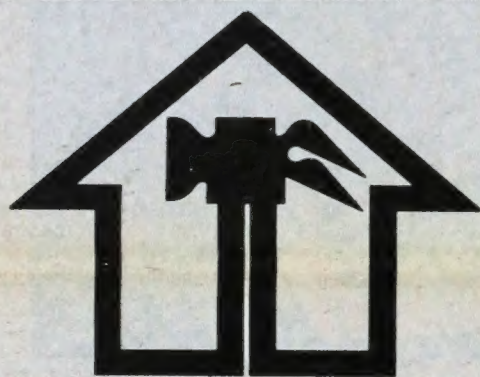

Mr. Vaughan noted that two things may stand in the way of the band attending the event. He pointed out that the invitation is sudden and the group has not done any fund raising to cover the estimated $2000 to $3000 travelling costs. He also pointed out that the day after the band would be scheduled to play in Quebec City, many of the members would be participating in a regional track and field meet in Peterborough. He suggested if the group could overcome the financial problems and the problems with the schedule, they may attend.

In the meantime, members of the stage and concert bands are gearing up for an exchange with a high school in London, Ontario. The HHSS groups will be travelling to London May 1-4 to be hosted by the students of that school and to perform there. The bands from that school will pay a return visit later to the Highlands.

In conjunction with the band exchange, the student musicians are holding a fund raising effort Sunday, April 28. The groups will be holding a Bike-A-Thon on that date. Members will raise pledges based on a number of miles they cover during the event. A 20 mile route has been laid out to challenge the musicians.

program, recently announced by Frank Millar, would encourage expansion and growth Bennett said.

Arguing that it was not the government's responsibility to create jobs, Bennett said "We must create an economic plan to encourage the private sector to create jobs. Our job is to develop an economic climate that will convince the private entrepreneur to invest his or her money in establishing new opportunities in the province."

The Enterprise Ontario program will give tax breaks to companies who reinvest profits in "job creating opportunities both in the construction and long term manufacturing of goods," he said. "This program plays to our strength" he said. "Because it deals with established companies who have shown they can survive, whereas under past programs, many companies have folded after the incentive loans ran out."

Noting that there will be 50,000 businesses likely to commence operations in the province, "some of these businesses will have to have some encouragement from the government."

"In their first three years of business, whatever profits they happen to make will be without taxation," he said, adding, "At the end of three years if they continue to reinvest profits, they will be without taxation."

Bennett also promised that the program will have a particular emphasis on young people, minorities and women and that. "In order to allow women an opportunity to return to the work force, child care programs will be implemented both in government institutions and private organizations through the financial assistance of the province."

In concluding his address, Bennett said that in much the same way that the leadership candidates have reunited during the election campaign, local Conservatives must also unite under a common cause.

Liberal rural study

ing formula was introduced in 1984 the government announced that a temporary revenue guarantee would provide each municipality with an increase in funds of 2.5% over the previous year. The task force argues that the increase is inadequate to keep up with the rate of inflation.

The report urges that transfer payments should be "based on a system which incorporates both a household based grant and a levy-based grant acceptable to the Provincial Government and rural municipalities" and that a special assistance fund for rural municipalities be introduced that would be gradually reduced as a new formula is brought into effect.

Support for small business

The task forces review of small business resulted in a long list of recommendations designed to stem the exodus of young people from rural areas.

According to the report the provincial government should: provide funds to match the federal government's Local Employment Assistance Development Program and increase funding to the Community Development Corporation Program; adopt a purchasing policy that favours Canadian - controlled firms wherever possible; provide up to $5 million in Small Business Development Grants to rural municipalities with chronically high unemployment; institute regional tax incentives for businesses locating in small towns; expand the Enterprise Growth Fund contained in the 1984 budget from $10 million to $15 million.

Ontario Hydro came under heavy criticism during the task force study.

The report states, "Ontario Hydro is perceived by rural residents as being a law unto itself, and oblivious to their concerns."

"Rural spokesmen felt Hydro's debt and rate increases were out of control. They also warned that Ontario Hydro powerlines threatened rural communities," the report added.

The task force recommends that Ontario Hydro rate increases be brought under direct control of the Ontario Energy Board and that the Legislature's Select Committee on Ontario Hydro Affairs be reconvened to allow rural Ontario, "an opportunity to hold Ontario Hydro accountable for policies and actions that have an impact on their communities."

Lack of physicians

The quality of social services and health care in rural communities particularly in Northern Ontario came under close scrutiny during the 18 month study.

Social services and health care in rural areas is suffering, the report states because of extra-billing in rural communities where there are often few physicians and because the lack of sufficient public nursing and community health centres has restricted access to health services, causing rural residents to rely heavily on institutional care.

The report recommends that extra-billing be banned and that the Canada Health Act be supported. The report points out that the Canada Health Act enacted penalties for extra billing in July 1984. For every dollar charged under extra-billing the federal government withholds one dollar from the province. During the study the provincial government was losing $4.4 million per month in penalties.

The report also recommends expanding medical training programs, upgrading and expanding hospital facilities and equipment in rural communities and raising incentive fee schedules for underserved areas.

Day care inadequate

In discussing the issue of day care facilities the report notes that 55% of rural women in the province (according to a 1981 census) work full or part time.

The task force points out that, according to a Women in Rural Life study which was conducted by the Ministry of Agriculture and Food, "For women who must or want to work, the lack of child care in rural areas is a major problem. Today, very few extended families living nearby, these family members are probably also in the workforce."

"For single parents, the presence or absence of child care means the difference between working and receiving social assistance."

Noting that the Ontario Government only provides funds for subsidized children, the task force recommends that a support fund be established to provide loans or grants to working parents who do not qualify for subsidized space but cannot afford a full-cost program.

Other recommendations include the encouragement of private home day care agencies through increased funding, particularly for start-up funding in rural areas and the establishment of training and hiring programs for child care workers who would develop programs tailored to rural and farm needs.

In a section of the report entitled "Agriculture - The Key To Preserving Rural Ontario", the task force comments, "By far the most distressing matter brought to the attention of the Task Force was the concern expressed about the future of our deeply troubled agricultural sector."

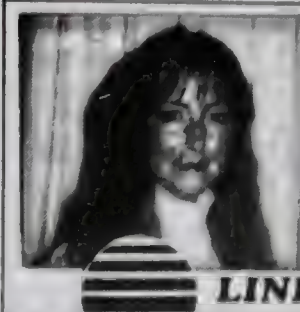

The report goes on to detail the "severe financial stress" being experienced by many farmers, the extent of farm bankruptcies (half the national total) and the effects of the $1 billion a year food deficit.

The section of the report dealing with agriculture was not released on Wednesday. Instead it has been withheld for special consideration and an announcement of policy based on the recommendations of the report is expected in the near future.

One recommendation has already been endorsed. David Peterson announced that if elected the Liberal Party would introduce an Ontario Interest Rate Loan Reduction program to subsidize farm loans and hold interest rates to 8 per cent on the first $200,000 of debt.

There was a bountiful harvest waiting for Clare and Rheta Brown when they returned to their home in Lutterworth Township after spending the winter in Florida. As Rheta explained they had not expected much from their parsnip patch judging from the size of the stalks last year, but when they dug through the foot thick blanket of snow, they discovered a crop of giant parsnips that were already sprouting. The largest tuber measured 15 inches in length and 6 and a half inches across the top. The three parsnips shown in the photograph weighed seven pounds.

40 hear options for LEAD grant

About forty individuals, mainly from the Haliburton area, attended a meeting sponsored by the Haliburton County L.E.A.D. (Local Employment Assistance and Development) Program at the Haliburton Legion on Thursday, April 11.

The meeting was held to provide information on the L.E.A.D. program and to accept applications to the program's board of directors.

Ken Langdon, President of the Haliburton Highlands Chamber of Commerce, acted as chairman of the meeting. He introduced Carole O'Malley, the regional director and Andy Campbell, Planning Phase Manager for the corporation.

O'Malley told the gathering that the program has been designed by the Ministry of Employment and Immigration to assist areas with chronic unemployment. Funding will be provided for one of three types of projects; a corporation which provides loans of up to $25,000 to companies or individuals at a rate that is not less than the rate set by chartered banks; an enterprise project such as a manufacturing company and an infrastructure project such as a mall or serviced commercial subdivision which would lease space to private companies.

The success of the program O'Malley said depends on the "time, effort and dedication on the part of the community". When asked how much flexibility the program offered, O'Malley answered that only one type of project would be initiated and that the choice of that project would depend on the number of permanent jobs being created.

Andy Campbell informed the audience that since being hired as the planning phase manager he has been travelling throughout the County discussing the program with the various municipalities and private businesses and distributing questionnaires. He asked for applications from anyone interested in serving on the board of directors which will be chosen by the selection committee within the next week.

The selection committee is made up of three members of County Council and three representatives of the Chamber of Commerce. Campbell explained that there are provisions for 17 members on the board of whom 5 - 7 members will serve on the executive.

The board, he explained will be responsible for choosing the direction that the program will take and will be considering proposals during the next few months. Campbell noted that about a quarter of the questionnaires have been returned and that most respondents favour a corporation. Campbell noted however that the questionnaire did not specify that the loans would have to be paid back at the prevailing bank rate.

O'Malley emphasised that the corporation can assist small companies who have been turned down by commercial banks because of lack of equity, but emphasised, "We are not necessarily talking about high-risk companies."

She added that a corporation should be self-supporting after five years. During the five year operational stage up to $130,000 a year is made available to the corporation to cover administrative costs and to provide technical assistance to local businesses.

Up to $220,000 is available annually for loans.

A full time manager will be hired to run the corporation and the manager along with the board of directors will report to the County, sponsors of the program.

When asked if the corporation could simply guarantee a bank loan which would allow a business an opportunity to establish a credit rating with a bank, O'Malley answered that she could not give a definite answer but commented that the suggestion was worth considering. In answer to a question about conflict of interest, Ken Langdon replied that, "anyone who is

Comedy next for theatre

The Highlands Little Theatre opens its sixth season with a masterpiece of brilliant comedy by Oscar Wilde, The Importance of Being Earnest. The play is probably the most famous of all the modern 'artificial' comedies. It revolves gaily and wittily around the most ingenious case of 'manufactured' mistaken identity ever put into a play.

The chief plot element is that of the invention of a mythical character made by a young man who wishes to put off on someone else, his own shortcomings.

Two dashing young 'men-about-town' and two young ladies who are both properly brought up in the manner of the turn of the century, provide the main story line which then abruptly turns to include a very straight-laced Canon and a lovelorn

Governess.

All this is very properly supervised by that classic matriarch, Lady Bracknell.

The Importance of Being Earnest will be presented May 9, 10 and 11 at the Haliburton Highlands Secondary School. Curtain time is 8 p.m.

Advance tickets are priced at $4 for adults, $3 for students and seniors. Tickets at the door will cost $5 for adults, $4 for students and seniors.

Tickets are available from all members of the Highlands Little Theatre, Paulettes in Haliburton, the Storeroom and the Toronto-Dominion Bank in Minden.

LEAD meeting

going to be closely involved in any proposal should not sit on the board."

O'Malley noted that by-laws and conflict of interest guidelines can be established during the next phase of the program. She also explained that an effort has been made to give representation to all regions in the county by appointing one board member of each municipality. When asked if consideration would be given to the fact that the Municipality of Dysart et al includes nine townships, yet has only one representative, O'Malley deftly sidestepped the issue by noting that up to seven members of the board would be chosen for their expertise in various fields, regardless of their hometown affiliation. O'Malley also noted that members of municipal councils can sit on the board and that three councillors have been recommended to the selection committee.

When asked to assess the other projects that she is involved with, O'Malley commented that of the four enterprise projects in Ajax, Barrie, Whitney, and Port McNichol she considers only one of the programs to be unhealthy. "It needs improvement, but the others are becoming viable and are now in their third or fourth year of operation," she said.

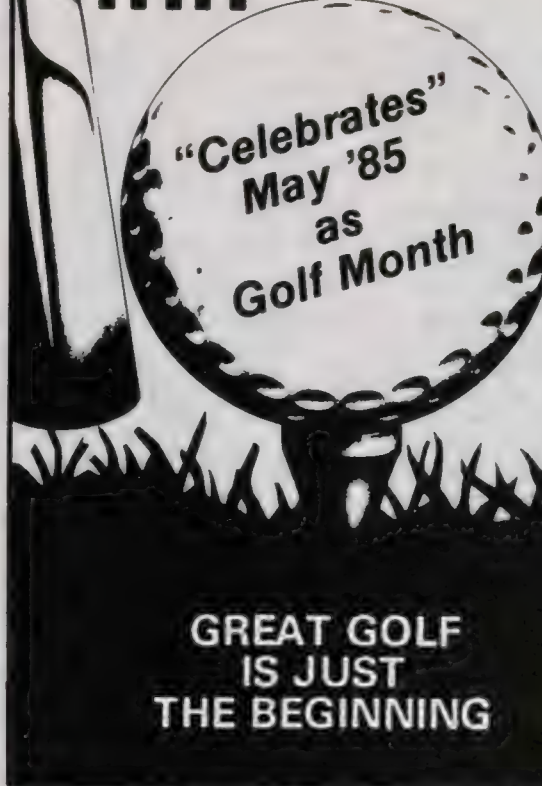

She added that many corporations in the province are still in the planning stage.

In concluding the meeting, O'Malley made a point of noting that if the board decides to create an enterprise project, it will be up to the board to decide on the location.

Grant awarded

Dear readers. We had a lovely Easter Sunday after all, compared to the day before, when the wind blew down power lines and many trees did fall.

A busy weekend here all about. Many residents had relatives come or else to take them out. Edith Welch had her family come and stay with her to dine, also with Aunt Caroline. Della Curry's son and wife came and took her for a drive, there were many others, goodness sakes alive.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Cowan came to visit Mrs. Cowan's mother, Mrs. Gilbank, found her just a little better, for which we all give thanks.

Edna Cowan's grandson was getting married in Lochlin United Church Saturday night. Edna was invited to see the job done right.

Lily Hogg went to Clayton Harrison's for Easter dinner, when they came picked her up and brought her back again.

Linda English, along with her husband and son Dale, a motor trip they took, to spend the Easter holiday with her husband's relatives up at Kirkland Lake.

A sacred service in the chapel Sunday night. The Thompsons were there, Ruth to play the music and lead the singing. Harold to read the lesson. Mary Burgess led in prayer. Then Rev. John always has an interesting story to reveal. In the 3rd chapter of Acts, it tells how Peter and John came across the lame man and how he was healed.

I had Murray Hogg call on me one day. We lived in his lovely 12 Mile Lake home. We were up that way.

It was good to have Linda back with us again. After the Easter holidays. We are sorry that Doris wasn't there, but she is presently under doctors care.

Tuesday morning Rev. Wicks of Minden Gospel Church conducted a very interesting service in the chapel this lovely April day. We thank him for coming and Fred Ballard the music to play.

Tuesday afternoon we watched three movies, which were quite a sight. At 3 o'clock Linda read about what happened in Haliburton County and different parts away back when.

Wednesday night our entertainers came. Earl Cooper and wife Eleanor and Kathy, all in Scottish dress. We really had a ball. With Kathy on the piano keys, Earl on the fiddle, I played the harmonica, too. We played some lively Highland tunes, I am telling you. Then the Scottish dancers came and took over the floor, entertained us royally for over an hour or more. We all enjoyed this very much and look forward to when you will return to us again.

Thursday morning down at fun and fitness, playing bucket ball, Wilbert Sisson made the high score.

The A.C.W. ladies came down from Haliburton on Thursday afternoon, brought and served a lovely lunch. To thank them in some small way, Linda and I played them some tunes.

We would like to thank Mr. and Mrs. Don Nye for coming to call the bingo numbers Thursday night. Some of the players had poor luck, others did alright. It was good to have Fern Donnelly back with us again for Fun and Fitness to help Linda while Doris was away.

Congratulations to Gordon Ruttle, we would like to say, who had a birthday on this 12 April day.

Our entertainers came again Friday afternoon. Grace to lead the singing, Norma to play the tunes. We had some visitors to help out in the singing. Grace always has some humorous poems and sings a few numbers, much pleasure they will bring.

Now to Marjorie Schuyler, we wish her all the best, went to Peterborough had surgery and back here the same day and is now recovering nicely here at Hyland Crest.

Qualified electors who do not have Form 301 or whose names are not on the list of electors may have their names added during the revision period up to and including the day prior to polling day.

Also, now is the time for any additions and corrections to the preliminary lists of electors.

To take advantage of the revision process, electors should contact the Returning Officer in their electoral district. Telephone numbers of Returning Officers will be carried in Election Ontario advertisements in daily and weekly newspapers throughout the Province. Directory Assistance will also be able to provide the appropriate numbers.

The Office of the Returning Officer can be easily identified through the display of the official Elections Ontario sign.

Returning Officers in the Province's 125 electoral districts will consider additions during their posted office hours.

Urban electors must have their names on the list to vote, or must present a certificate, signed by the Returning Officer or Revision Assistant, to the Deputy Returning Officer at the polling place. Rural electors not on the list may still vote, provided they are identified and vouched for on polling day by another qualified elector who is on the list at that polling place.

Persons eligible to vote in this election must be at least 18 years of age on polling day, a Canadian citizen or British subject at the time of voting, and a resident of Ontario for at least the 12 month period prior to the election day.

We received a little note from former Minden residents Frank and Mary Watson of Orillia. Frank has been in intensive care in Orillia Hospital for the past two weeks suffering from pneumonia. They asked to be remembered to all their Minden friends. If anyone would care to send a card or note, their address is: Mr. & Mrs. Frank Watson, 101 North Street West, Orillia, Ontario, L3V 3S7. We're sure they'd appreciate hearing from friends from home.

Mr. and Mrs. Ron Davis and family, Jeff, Julie, Jennifer also Tracey Jordon all of Foley, Ontario, were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hewitt of Minden. Many friends and relatives were here to visit with them.

For those of you with itchy feet, there will be a dance this Saturday night, April 20, at the West Guilford Community Centre from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. The music will be supplied by Swiftwater, a band from Belleville who play country rock and country & western style music. No minors are allowed of course. A good way to get rid of the winter blahs!

Susan and Derek Hill have returned to London, England after spending Easter holidays with Richard and Laura Kirkwood of Minden.

Congratulations to Ron and Peggy Davis on their 18th wedding anniversary.

The ladies of St. Paul's A.C.W. asked us to pass on their thanks to all who bought or sold their homemade Easter eggs. This effort was once again a success we are glad to report.

The winners of the Easter Basket draw at Minden Drug Store were: Michelle Walker, 12; Blaine Cooper, 12; Sarah Johnson, 6 and Lisa Reinwald, 4.

Residents of Carnarvon recent were surprised to see a large black bear ambling down Highway 35. Neighbours quickly apprised each other by telephone of the approaching animal and its progress was well watched. The bear was eventually chased into the bush. Must be spring!

Well done all of you - you all worked hard, especially Mr. Vaughan! Good luck in the Nationals!

Prayers

I lay in the hospital in intensive care,
I looked around me and the room was bare.
I was all tied up to tubes and stuff
And I said to myself "This life is rough"
I wish that I were home once more
So I could go for walks the same as before.
Then I felt a feeling of warmth surround me
And I thought Thank God their love has found me
I'm just as sure as I can be
My friends back home are praying for me.
The bare little room seemed to fade away
I began to improve a little each day.
So now I know without a doubt
What the meaning of prayer is all about.

Florence Robinson

To Lift-Off

It's dawn - we wait -
And like an arrow poised for flight
In man-made bird
We contemplate our fate.
A rosy dawn now fills the sky
They will be counting by and by Backward from ten.
With help of God, we shall come back again.
What will we find, when we have left Earth's sphere behind?
Pure azure sky, too brilliant for the naked eye to see Oh God, if ever doubted we
We doubt no more.
The counting's nearly done,
And now at number one, we pause -
With one earth-shattering roar
And locked inside our rocket's breast, we soar
Straight through the sky -
Our headphones catch, from far below
The joyous shout, all systems go!
